

DISCLAIMER

This website and its affiliated web pages (e.g. Facebook pages) and also the book Chios Energy Healing: Powerful New Techniques for Healing the Human Energy Field ("the book") contains information, techniques and offers of services in what is generally becoming known as energy healing or energy medicine. The information and techniques in all of these, however, is presented for informational and educational purposes only. The author and web page(s) owner is not engaged in providing medical, psychological, health or professional advice or services of any kind, does not make any claim of effectiveness of any technique presented for the treatment of any medical or psychological condition, nor representing the information and techniques herein as being any substitute for care by licensed health care providers. The author and web page(s) owner makes no warranty or claim of effectiveness—express or implied—for the information and techniques discussed (including their use by any person), and shall not be liable for any loss, damage or harm arising out of their use. If you or someone you know has a physical or mental health care concern, please consult a licensed physician, licensed psychotherapist or other licensed health care provider. The application of the information and techniques presented is the choice of each reader, who assumes full responsibility for his or her application of them, interpretation of them and results. The author and web page(s) owner assumes no responsibility for the action or choices of any reader or practitioner of the information and techniques presented.

For your further information: Energy healing (energy medicine), part of the emerging constellation of healing therapies variously referred to as alternative medicine or holistic health, has only recently begun to be investigated by the scientific community. While it is true that energy healing and similar alternative therapies have enjoyed rapidly-growing popularity in recent years, their effectiveness has not been proven. Energy healing is not an evidence-based therapy for any condition of body or mind; there is no comprehensive, definitive scientific evidence of the effectiveness of energy healing techniques. Educational programs in the healing arts, healing schools and healing training in alternative medical therapies has likewise begun to flourish, and yet the majority of these activities (including instruction in and practice of energy healing and energy medicine) are thus far unlicensed and unregulated in most locations.

In light of the above facts and their legal implications, the author of the book and owner of this website and its affiliated web page(s) makes the information, techniques and services herein available ONLY subject to the above terms and conditions and also those below. By reading the book or this website and its affiliated web page(s) you agree that doing so constitutes your acceptance of all terms and conditions listed both above and below:

1. The information, techniques and services discussed herein are presented for informational and educational purposes only, and without warranty of any kind, express or implied. The owner of this website specifically disclaims all responsibility for any liability, loss or risk, personal or otherwise, which is incurred as a consequence, directly or indirectly from the use or application of any information, technique or service on this site. The website owner makes no claim and specifically disclaims any effectiveness, benefits or suitability for treatment for any disease or condition, whether physical, mental, spiritual or for any other purpose, and will not be liable to you for damages—medical, psychological or any other kind—incurred as a consequence, directly or indirectly, by the use or application of any information, technique or service on this site. You agree to indemnify and hold harmless the website owner from any liability for physical or mental injury to you or third parties, or any loss or damage of any kind, to you or to third parties, resulting from use of any information, technique or service on this website, in whole or in part, including but not limited to: energy healing techniques, meditation techniques, energy healing treatments, energy healing attunements, participating in energy healing or meditation classes or instruction, receipt of psychic or intuitive information provided, making use of any service or offer of assistance from any person listed on this website or its affiliated web page(s). You agree to all the above, whether you receive the information, techniques or services from this website itself, from the owner of this site, from other persons listed on this website or from any other parties purporting to practice any of the techniques or services discussed herein.

2. The healing techniques discussed on this site are alternative and complementary in nature. Neither energy healing nor any of the information, techniques or services offered on this site is a substitute for medical or psychological diagnosis and treatment by a licensed health care professional. If you are physically or mentally ill, you should not rely on anything this website offers, on energy healing techniques or upon anyone who practices them to make you well; you should consult an appropriate licensed health care professional. If you are working with a licensed health care provider, you should only employ energy healing therapy with his or her knowledge and approval, and should never discontinue any treatment or medication prescribed by your licensed health care provider and instead rely on energy healing therapy. Energy healing (like other alternative therapies) may pose risks and/or even be contraindicated for certain circumstances.
3. This website offers instruction in energy healing techniques, but neither this website nor its owner is an accredited, licensed or certified school. The owner of this website is not a physician or licensed health care provider, nor licensed nor certified to instruct or grant diplomas in energy healing. Degree certificates offered by this website, its owner and by persons listed on it are not accredited or certified degrees and the website owner disclaims their fitness, merchantability or suitability for the practice of energy healing or for any other purpose. Individuals who offer their services using energy healing techniques discussed on this site (and other techniques) are listed on this website, but the owner of this site has not qualified these individuals, has not verified any abilities they may have and makes no representation and is not responsible for what they claim about themselves or their abilities, for the energy healing treatments and/or attunements they provide, or for the quality or quantity of classes or course content they may offer. Should you elect to receive any service from these persons or anyone purported to use these techniques, you must research and determine for your self whatever qualifications they may possess, and do so at your own risk. The owner further specifically disclaims any benefit you may receive from services these persons offer, and will not be responsible for their actions or for loss, harm or damage arising from your employment of the services they offer, as more specifically provided for above.
4. Should you choose to learn the energy healing techniques discussed in this site and practice them upon others—whether you are listed on this website or no—you agree to not make any representations of the techniques as being able to cure or assist in the curing of any disease or affliction. You also agree a) never to make any claims to heal or cure; b) to never diagnose illness; c) to never claim to treat illness; d) to never prescribe treatment or medication; e) to never interfere with the care provided by any licensed health care provider; f) to never recommend the discontinuance of any treatment or medication prescribed by a licensed health care provider; g) to never represent yourself as a physician or licensed health care provider, if you are not; h) to never act in any capacity for which a professional license is required, should you not possess that license; i) to never practice these techniques in any location or venue where it is not legal to do so, and j) to comply with all laws and disclosure requirements in your area.

©1994 - 2011 Stephen H. Barrett